

Location

Home to Toronto's center for arts, culture and a unique independent spirit, Parkdale is a vibrant community of cafés, bars, restaurants and shopping with some of the best in the city right around the corner. Just 1 block from Queen Street West, and a 20min walk to High Park, Trinity Bellwoods Park or the Lake, Parkdale is truly at the center of it all.

Hungry? Stop by Electric Mud for authentic Southern BBQ or their sister restaurant, Grand Electric for the best tacos in Toronto- both less than 1 block away. Prefer vegan? Just pop across the street to Doomies or Mythology ground zero for Vegandale.

If you are looking for authentic cultural food, try Bacchus for homemade Caribbean roti, or Om for Tibetan.

Want a local? The Skyline Diner is the choice for high quality comfort food (try the Skyline Club) with perfect hipster service. If craft beer is your thing, Pharmacy is the place to be. Just be nice to Chris or he might kick you out. If all the latest "it" spots are full, there's always The Cadillac Lounge, providing Jameson and Rockabilly to Parkdale since 2000 with one of largest Patios in downtown.

For something a bit fancier, Chantecler or Miss Things top the list, followed by mescal and cocktails at Pretty Ugly.

Just down Queen you are also neighbors to Toronto's original art and culture hotel - (no, not The Drake, but that's just one more block away) - The Gladstone Hotel.

With the Queen 501 streetcar at your doorstep, the Dufferin bus with direct connection to the subway less than 2 blocks away, and the Gardiner Expressway less than 1km away, Parkdale is transit perfect.

West Queen West, Ossington, Dundas West and Liberty Village are all at your doorstep. Where will you go, when you leave home from your perfect Parkdale Pad?
